Meets the Second Wednesday of Each Month in Alfred Town Hall

GUEST SPEAKER

MICHAEL QUATRANO

Executive Director

Maine Civic Action

Maine Civic Action is devoted to identifying and training citizens to become active leaders in their communities, including recruiting and assisting candidates for the Maine House and Senate. Through education, issue advocacy and activism, Maine Civic Action engages all levels of Maine government to pursue solutions that promote free markets, fiscal responsibility, and accountable government.

Mike Quatrano is an expert on how to turn volunteer enthusiasm into productive activism. He will present an overview of Get Out the Vote Techniques, from how to turn Unregistered and Unaffiliate voters into Republican votes, to why phone banking and addressing thousands of postcards is still important in this age of impersonal digital communications, all the way to Election Day when we need to make sure every Republican voter gets to the polls and every Republican Absentee ballot is returned.

But before any of these GOTV techniques can be utilized, candidates must be found to run for every elected position at every level of government - local, county, and state. Mike Quatrano has years of experience in recruiting candidates for all levels of government throughout Maine, and he will be sharing what he has learned about how to find and recruit the best candidates for positions from School Board and Town Council, to County Commission, to the Legislature in Augusta.
